

and i

Victoria Woods

some seek for revolution,
some seek for peace.

and i?

i seek them both
at once --
the separate lives of identical births.

he laughs around my soul,
watches as I unclench my weary fingers from the grip around my fears.

i plant myself in front of the snow
and ache

as the Light blinds my eyes.

but i smile.